

Joshua Wendell, a Wallace High School graduate, has recently joined the Ogallala law firm of McQuillan & McQuillan PC.

Wendell received his bachelor's degree in agroecology from the University of Wyoming in 2000 and a law degree from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Law in 2010.

The son of Jack Wendell and Michelle Wendell, Joshua was born in Grant and was raised near Dickens on a corn and edible bean farm.

Following graduation from college, he farmed and raised cattle at Dickens and Brewster, for six years before attending law school.

In 2001, he married his wife Kristy, who is currently employed at Safeway Food and Drug.

In addition to his law career, Wendell also owns a ranch in Blaine County.

Wendell's new duties will include estate planning, real estate and contract work.
