

Boise indie Americana/folkstress Sarah Sample is on tour supporting her new release "Someday, Someday" with a performance at Smokin Leroy's on Wednesday, Nov. 10 in Imperial, east of the grocery on 12th Street.

Produced by Scott Wiley (Elliot Smith, Ray Lamontagne), Sarah shares her most confident and sophisticated material to date with the "beautiful and joyous" (-Soul Audio.com) Someday, Someday, out Oct.12.

"Sarah Sample's voice is vulnerable, her words simple. Together, they create an air of invincibility...-SpeakersInCode With a voice and lyrics that "cut to the bone" (-SL Weekly), Sample crafts achingly beautiful folk/Americana that utilizing those assets to full effect on the hushed lullaby of "One Mistake," yearning for love of "Shadow of A Song" and "Calling Your Name" and the uplifting and empowering "I'm Ready."

Her vocals are accentuated with harmonies from Ryan Tanner, Paul Jacobsen, Dustin Christensen and Mai Bloomfield