

Seventeen ladies from the Scarlet Chapeau enjoyed a luncheon on Oct. 15 in downtown Grant. Visiting was the order of the day catching up on news, that ranged from a new great-granddaughter to anniversaries. Dessert was a selection of crushed cherry pie or to-die-for chocolate cake. Needless to say members were unable to resist both, and “to die for chocolate cake” lived up to its name.

Delores Woodmancy and Kay Cheney were the hostesses. The next meeting will be in November.
