

A work crew from the railroad is seen working on the railroad crossing on main street in Elsie. The long awaited project included removing unused rails and leveling out the remaining rails and ties. (Photo by Joan Craig)