

Organizers of the community sing-a-long on Christmas Eve estimate around 50 people attended the event, which included people of all age groups and religions. A few pets also made appearances to enjoy the fellowship and song. Top: the stage area of the band shell in Grant City Park was the place for the sing-a-long but bitter winds and cold temperatures did not deter those wanting to share some Christmas magic. Grant Congregational Church pastor Larry Booth broke out his guitar to lead some of the songs. Dave Mendyk, one of the organizers of the event, holds a very important piece of scenery, the Baby Jesus, to position on stage as part of the display that decorated the stage. (Photos by Tim Linscott)

