

About 200 individuals attended the 22nd annual Mid-Winter Fire School on Feb. 16 at Holdrege High School.

The Central Nebraska Volunteer Firefighters Association and Central Community College-Holdrege sponsored the school, which included sessions on active shooter events, AirCare response, CEVO operations, farm emergencies, fire investigations, natural gas emergencies, rural water supply, vehicle extrication and ventilation technologies.

Charles Andrews, Ryan Kuhlman and Tom Tobiasson of Wallace were among the participants.
