

The girls golf team was greeted by perfect weather for the season's opening match in Sidney on Tuesday, Aug. 24.

Coach Troy Kemling is encouraged by the scores of the two senior girls Emily Kiolbasa (116, 58-58) and Stephanie Reichert (122, 65-57), and looks to see lower scores with more practice.

"Emily and Steph both had respectable scores and demonstrated they are capable of scoring in the mid 50s on a tough course," said Kemling.

Shania Stickley and Carra Johnson experienced their first competition and their first complete nine holes.

Kemling was pleased with their effort and composure throughout the course.
