

Surrounded by loving students at the spring concert last week is high school music instructor Sheila Johnson—look for the hand with the wedding ring. It’s obvious she will be missed when she retires from Perkins County Schools at the end of the 2012-13 term. The concert Thursday, May 2 was her last at the high school after 11 years of teaching band and music. Johnson is one of four longtime instructors who are retiring this spring. Joining in the group hug are (l-r): Brady Mailand, Patrick Teppert, Dustin Frickey, Matt Sestak, Brendon Barry (back). (Photo by Shari Friedel)
